INCREASE OF FISH FOOD.

One of the great benefits to be derived from the science of fish culture is the acclimatization of valuable species in waters where they have hitherto been known, and where the indigenous fish were only of worthless species. Until within the last eighteen years the Potomac above tidewater with the exception of catfish, only produced suckers, chubs, roach, sunfish and small fry. An engineer by the name of Stabler caught fifteen or twenty pounds of black bass in Wheeling creek, a tributary of the Ohio, and putting them into a bag net, which he placed in his water tank, transported them across the Alleghany mountains, and turned them loose in the Potomac at Cumberland. Since that time these fish have not only increased wonderfully in that river, but have penetrated every tributary both on the Virginia and Maryland side as far down as tidewater, furnishing in the aggregate many tons of wholesome and palatable animal food. The sport these very game fish furnish to the angler is alluded to in Mr. Norris' book on fish culture (p. 212). Five years ago, in the neighborhood of Williamsport, above Harper's Ferry, three anglers one day, fishing nine hours, took 325 pounds, the largest fish weighing nearly six pounds.

We learn that the enterprise of stocking the Delaware with these fish has been commenced by a few anglers and public spirited gentlemen. Instead of fifteen or twenty pounds they propose placing four or five hundred brood fish in the river, somewhere about Easton. This liberal stocking of the Delaware will produce proportionately a more speedy return in food and sport.

It is proposed to prohibit, by legal enactment, the taking of these fish and their progeny for five years. By the expiration of that time, with so plentiful a sowing, we may hope to bring the productive power of the Delaware to the point which it has taken the Potomac eighteen years to attain.

The acclimatization of fish extends far back in the history of industrial pursuits in China and Japan. England is indebted to other countries for its pike, its carp and its salmon, which were introduced from the continent of Europe by the monks some centuries before the days of Isaac Walton. Although the geographical range of the salmon does not extend north of the Delaware, we think it would be an experiment well worthy of the small expense of money and time it would incur to try to acclimatize that splendid and delicious fish in our noble river.—Philadelphia Record.

DIVERSIFICATION OF FARMING INDUSTRY.
The Commissioner of Agriculture, in a recent report, recommends that the farmers of the country diversify its agriculture as a means of correcting the irregularities now so common. There are always exceptional years, those in which some particular crop will fail to a certain extent, causing a scarcity and high prices. High prices usually stimulate over production, and the consequence is low prices for two or three years, when the industry is directed into a new channel, to run through a similar cycle. The South as an illustration. Its industry has in the main been directed in one channel—cotton. Its food has been procured from the North, while the bulk of it should have been raised by the side of the cotton. The South would be stronger, more independent, to diversify its agricultural labor. At the West there are sections where corn is the exclusive crop; others where the same is true of wheat. Now, if there were more discrimination in the water, the farmer, in the long run, would be the gainer. Prices would be more regular, and there would not be half the opportunity for speculation that exists now. A variety of crops will equalize production year by year; in one season one product is scarce, there will be something to take its place. Agriculture, to be successful, needs a discriminative judgment at the helm.

THE BURNING WELL.—Elliott & Co., who have been drilling wells into the plantations around here, have got into trouble at last. We told them last summer that they had better be careful how they bored down where they were not acquainted. In boring a well on Wade Hampton's plantation on Lake Washington, last week, they struck fire, and for nine days now this well has been burning. Mr. Shanks, who drove the well, says that he made four attempts to drill a well, and each time, at the depth of forty feet, would meet such a resistance that he could go no farther. From the last one there was such an escape of gas as to attract his attention, and merely for experiment he applied a lighted match to the gas, when it instantly ignited, burning with a steady flame of great brilliancy. It is put out by fanning the flame, but will relight at the touch of a match. The gas, when bottled, burns readily, and has a sulphurous smell. A each of the wells the same phenomena occurred, and the matter is attracting much attention in the neighborhood. Mr. Shanks visited the Hampton well after he drove the well, and told it still burning. We presume General Hampton will have investigations made to ascertain the cause of the strange occurrence.—Greenville Republican.

In Indiana, a husband, after a spree, was led home by one of his friends, who, after placing him safely on his doorstep, rang the bell, and retreated somewhat deviously to the opposite side of the street, to see if it would be answered. Promptly the "porte" was "overtaken" and the fond spouse, who had waited for her truant, beheld him in all his toidness. "Why, Walter, is this you?" "Yes, my dear." "What in the world has kept you so?" "Been out on a little run with boys, my d-d-aunt!" "Why, Walter, you are intoxicated!" "Yes, dear, I estimate that so." "What on earth made you get so drunk?" "And why, oh, why do you come home to me in this dreadful state?" "Because, my darling, all the other places' shut up!"

A singular wedding took place in Morgan county, Mo., not long since. A widow was married to a young man on condition that if her truant husband should at any subsequent time express a willingness to live with her she should be allowed to do so, and her union with the young man should be null and void from that date.

An old lady of Connecticut, who lost her purse a short time since at New Haven declared, on its being restored to her, that she would not attempt to interfere with the reward which was stored up in Heaven for the finder by offering him money. A considerate person that.

MEDICAL.

BALTIMORE LOCK HOSPITAL.
DR. JOHNSTON,
Physician of this celebrated institution, has discovered the most Certain, Speedy, Pleasant and Effective Remedy in the world for all DISEASES OF IMPRUDENCE.

Weakness of the Back or Limbs, Strictures Affection of the Kidneys or Bladder, Involuntary Discharges, Impotency, General Debility, Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Languor, Low Spirits, Confusion of Ideas, Palpitation of the Heart, Timidity, Trembling, Dimness of Sight, or Giddiness, Disease of the Head, Throat, Nose or Skin, Affections of the Liver, Lungs, Stomach or Bowels—those terrible Disorders arising from Solitary Habits of Youth—secret and solitary practices more fatal to their victims than the song of the Sirens to the Mariners of Ulysses, blighting their most brilliant hopes or anticipations, &c.

Especially, who have become the Victims of Solitary Vice, and dreadful and destructive habits which annually sweep to an untimely grave thousands of young men of the most exalted talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entranced listening Senates with the thunders of eloquence, or waked to ecstasy the living lyre, may call with full confidence.

MARRIAGE.
Married persons, or Young Men contemplating marriage, and of Physical Weakness (Loss of Procreative Power—Impotency), Nervous Excitability, Palpitation, Organic Weakness, Nervous Debility, or any other Disqualification, speedily relieved.

He who places himself under the care of Dr. J. may rely confidently in his honor as a gentleman, and confidently rely upon his skill as a physician.

ORGANIC WEAKNESS.
Immediately cured and Full Vigor Restored. This distressing Affection—which renders life miserable and marriage impossible—is the penalty paid by the victims of improper indulgences. Young persons are too apt to commit excesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to say that the natural powers are lost sooner by those falling into improper habits than by the prudent? Besides being deprived of the pleasure of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms of both body and mind arise. The system becomes deranged, the Physical and Mental Functions weakened.—Loss of Procreative Power, Nervous Irritability, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of the Heart, Indigestion, Constitutional Debility and Wasting of the Frame, Cough, Consumption, Decay and Death.

A CURE WARRANTED IN TWO DAYS.
A Relief in Six Hours! No Mercury! Persons ruined by Ignorant, Trifling Pretenders and their Deadly Poison, should apply immediately.

DR. JOHNSTON,
Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, Graduate of one of the most eminent Colleges in the United States, and the greater part of whose education was spent in the hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known; many troubled with ringing in the head and ears when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, weakness, with frequent blushing, attended sometimes with derangement of mind, were cured immediately.

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE.
Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgence and solitary habits, which ruin both body and mind, urging them for either business, study, society or marriage.

These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by the early habits of youth, viz: Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Consumption, &c.

Mentally—The loss of effects on the mind are much to be dreaded. Loss of Memory, Confusion of Ideas, Depression of Spirits, Evil Forebodings, Aversion to Society, Solitary Distractions, Love of Solitude, Timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced.

Thousands of persons of all ages can now judge what is the cause of their declining health, losing their vigor, becoming weak, pale, nervous and emaciated, having a singular appearance about the eyes, count and symptoms of Consumption.

YOUNG MEN
Who have injured themselves by a certain practice, already described, a habit frequently
